Background

These registration guidelines seek to provide clarity on, and to smoothen, the registration process.

The areas below have an impact on students' ability to register:

- a. Application fees.
- b. Minimum initial payment (MIP):
 - i. South African citizens and Southern African Development Community (SADC) students; and
 - ii. international students.
- c. Settlement of prior debt.
- d. National Student Financial Aid Scheme (NSFAS) funding.
- e. Other external donors.

It must be understood that, at present, South Africa's university funding system is based on both a government grant and the payment of tuition fees, of which the latter are expected from students, their parents/guardians and/or sponsors.

CUT must optimise the collection of MIPs that are due to avoid:

- i. serious cash-flow problems; and
- ii. an increase in overall student debt.

Student debt settlement

Student debt continues to be a challenge in the sector. Non-payment of tuition fees is not sustainable for the institution. Student fees contribute to approximately 30% of the total budget required to run the institution. A continuous increase in student debt will result in failure of the university to meet its obligations and will compromise its teaching and learning activities.

Thus, students are urged to act responsibly, and to make the necessary payments, not only for the current year, but also for previous years' debt. Students and their parents are requested to engage with the FFA officers to make the necessary arrangements regarding the payment of outstanding debt.

In a case where a student has not paid the full account for a previous year of study, such a student will not be allowed to re-register before the account concerned has been paid in full.

Alternatively, the student will have to make acceptable payment arrangements and submit the signed Acknowledgement of Debt (AoD) form and the Debit Order Authorisation form before the university can allow registration. The following supporting documentation must also be submitted to the FFA officers:

1. Three months' bank statements of the account payer.
2. Certified copies of the identity documents (IDs) of the student and the account payer.
3. Proof of income/salary advice of account payer.

Settlement dates

- Year programmes: by 31 October
- First-semester programmes: by 31 May
- Second-semester programmes: by 31 October
